PASTA GUIDE

SHELL (Conchiglie or Lumache)

Shell shaped pasta come in a variety of sizes, with or without ridges. Our giant shells are stuffed with a ricotta spinach mix, and served with sauce.

FETTUCINE

The favorite flat noodle of Rome! Cut 1/8" to 3/8" wide or like "little ribbons". Particular good served with cream sauces.

LINGUINE

A flat ribbon noodle similar to fettuccine or sometimes shaped between flat and cylindrical strand. Often served with clam sauces or with pesto.

RAVIOLI

Two face to face squares or circles of flat pasta stuffed with a filling of meat or cheese and sealed around the edges.

SPAGHETTI

The most familiar pasta! Long rodlike or strands of pasta come in many sizes and may have different names depending on size. Used with oil based sauces, shellfish sauces, tomato sauces, etc.

LASAGNA

A broad noodle, usually about 2 inches wide with curly/wavy edges. The noodle is cooked and layered with a variety of meats, vegetables and cheeses and baked.

MOSTACCIOLI (Little Moustaches)

Approximately two inches long with diagonally cut ends. May be ridged or smooth. Also know as penne (quills). Great with a meat sauce or tomato sauce,

BOW TIE (Farfalle)

Farfalle comes in several sizes, but has a distinctive bowtie shape. Usually, the farfalla is formed from a rectangle or oval of pasta with two sides trimmed in a ruffled edge, and the center pinched together to make the unusual shape. Typically served with cream and tomato sauces.
